Family law firm

Stowe Family Law is the UK's largest family law firm. The business was founded by renowned family law specialist, Marilyn Stowe, over thirty years ago. Since then the practice has acted for over 20,000 clients and built a network of 10 offices across the UK including a flagship office in central London.

Our investment will be used to fuel the growth of the firm by building a larger national footprint, opening up to 30 additional offices over the next five years, as well as building on Stowe's strong IT platform and management team.

"It has been my most important ambition for this firm and its clients to thrive following my departure and I have achieved this with Livingbridge. I went into the legal profession to give back to society and to fight injustice and that's a legacy I know will be continued by all my colleagues at Stowe Family Law."
