

Visit website | Share case study

INVESTMENT YEAR: 2016

REALISATION YEAR: 2020

SECTOR: Healthcare & education

Medical productivity and clinical service consultancy

Four Eyes Insight is a medical productivity and clinical service consultancy, founded in 2013 by Dr Henry Carleton and Brian Wells. Henry and Brian both come from a medical background, and the business proposition to acute NHS trusts leverages the founders' clinical experience to help them to identify and implement efficiency and performance improvement across clinical settings.

The business's services are in high demand partly due to the funding pressure placed on the NHS. Nearly 60% of the NHS's budget is directed to acute trusts and as a consequence, they are experiencing the greatest share of efficiency saving pressures. Four Eyes Insight's clinical productivity consulting assists trusts in realising savings.

At Four Eyes, we improve efficiency across health care systems. To do this in a sustainable way takes the right combination of technology and people. Our dedicated, high-performing teams bring hands-on NHS experience at the frontline of operational improvement. Our primary focus now is on launching cutting-edge software that drives efficiencies to put patients at the centre of care.

Dr Emma Stanton
CEO, Four Eyes

The right tools for growth

Talent

We have worked to augment the senior management team through supporting the hire of a new CEO, COO and CFO.

Find top talent →

Tech enablement

We have facilitated the development of a new software platform, "Insight", which is currently in beta testing across multiple acute hospitals.

Build a technology platform →

Four Eyes timeline

- 2013 Four Eyes founded
- 2016 Livingbridge invests
- 2017 Appoints new COO
- 2018 Appoints new CEO
- 2018 Appoints new chairman
- 2018 Appoints new CFO
- 2019 Launches "Insight" software
- 2019 Appoints new CPO
- 2020 Livingbridge realises investment

